

ETHICS IN THE CONTEXT OF RESEARCH AND INDIGENOUS PEOPLES; A BIBLIOGRAPHY

VERA CAINE
CAROLINE DAVIS
TRAVIS JACOBS
ANGELINE LETENDRE

Work on this bibliography began in 2002. Vera Caine and Angeline Letendre, graduate summer students with the Alberta ACADRE Network, established a database of articles published on the topic of ethics in Indigenous health research. In 2003, Caroline Davis, a graduate student with the Alberta ACADRE Network and Travis Jacobs, a summer student at the Kahnawake Schools Diabetes Prevention Program in Quebec, added additional articles. The bibliography is offered in our journal as a resource for anyone interested in the ethical issues related to health research. Vera Caine, Angeline Letendre, and Caroline Davis were funded by the Alberta ACADRE Network. Travis Jacobs received a grant from the Kahnawake Schools Diabetes Prevention Project Centre for Research and Training, and the Aboriginal Mental Health Research Team, McGill University.
